

Investigation Foundations Level Two: Skills & Report Writing for Higher Education Training & Certification Course Agenda

Description:

Investigation Foundations Level Two: Skills and Report Writing for Higher Education builds on the concepts from Title IX Investigation Foundations Level One: Procedures and Critical Skills for Higher Education and focuses on both refining interviewing techniques as well as post-interview tasks, including credibility assessment, synthesizing information, and writing clear, comprehensive investigation reports. Participants will receive example investigation reports to help guide their understanding of report writing mechanics, format, and structure as well as determining the information that should be included in each report section. Further, participants will have opportunities to engage in a variety of applied learning activities to practice their skills and receive feedback from ATIXA's experts.

Learning Outcomes:

After completing this course, participants will be able to...

- Develop interview questions designed to elicit information that is relevant to a specific allegation
- Explain how to apply the five factors to consider when assessing credibility
- Determine the information that should be included in each section of an investigation report
- Identify problematic language in investigation reports and suggest remedies
- Integrate different sources of evidence into an investigation report in a clear manner
- Use best practices for protecting participant privacy through redaction, etc.
- Address the absence of specific evidence in an investigation report
