Authored by Tanyka M. Barber, J.D., Associate, TNG

Do you update your Board of Trustees about Title IX? If so, what information do you share with them?

At my previous institution, I reported to the Board during closed session at each quarterly meeting. I provided the following information:

1. Summary of all open cases, without identifiers. This included:
   a. The date complaint received,
   b. The status of parties (e.g. student, faculty, or staff),
   c. Where filed (internal versus with an external agency)
   d. The nature of allegations,
   e. The status of case.

2. An overview of Title IX trainings conducted to include:
   a. The date training conducted,
   b. The audience,
   c. The number of attendees.

3. As needed, I also updated the Board on the institution’s progress in meeting legislative mandates relative to Title IX.
